Introduction

Provide a brief explanation of the myth and its origin. The myth or legend must be of an ancient text and not a modern retelling or dramatization. Give the source text title if different than the episode title and its approximate year or era (New Kingdom, Intermediate Period, etc.).

Myth or Legend Script

For ease of reading, scripts are double-spaced, 14 points. The title heading fonts are in Arial, spoken parts are in Times New Roman.

Example:

Title

Character: Lines recited.

Submitted scripts must have a master script with all parts and individual scripts for individual parts. Voice actors record their parts individually with the episode director reading response lines to the actor.

Discussion

Provide an in-depth summary of the myth and its characters. Give the details of the source text, its discovery, provenance, current location, finder, and translators. For each section of the text, discuss its meaning using reputable Egyptological sources. Provide any definitions to words and culturally significant phrases.
